

Parle-moi Talk With Me

Early Language Services

It is never too early to learn!

Talking is one of the best indicators for success in school. All children benefit from an early start by learning:

-  words to build sentences;
-  how to tell stories and talk about things they see;
-  sounds for speaking and later learning how to read;
-  listening skills for following directions and comprehension;
-  communication for social activities; and
-  how to use books for reading.

It is never too early to learn. An earlier start to learning equals a better start in school!

What are Early Language Services?

The Early Language Services Team is active in your community providing information and help about communication development for everyone who knows or has a child five years of age or younger.

Who are we?

We are a team of Speech Language Pathologists and Support Personnel who are skilled in the development of preschool language skills, social skills and pre-literacy while recognizing the importance of language for learning in life. As a parent, grandparent, daycare worker or a member of the community you are part of our team too!

We Offer ...

-  workshops, training and education;
-  demonstration of techniques to help language grow;
-  information about language and learning;
-  referral to regional speech and language services if assessment and treatment are required;
-  ... and much more!

If you are wondering ...

“How do I help my son learn new words?”

“My granddaughter has a tough time with sounds. How can I show her how to make them?”

“What can I do to help my baby get the best start in communicating?”

“I work with children and I want to be a better communication model.”

.... We can help!
